

Academic Support and Campus Services

Scheduling of Classes

Most three-unit courses meet for 150 minutes per week. Three basic plans are used in scheduling classes: three meetings per week (usually Monday-Wednesday-Friday), two meetings per week or one meeting. Principal exceptions occur among laboratory, activity and studio courses and courses which carry less than three units of credit.

The two-period, two-day-per-week format is utilized for Monday-Wednesday/Tuesday-Thursday classes and most late afternoon and evening courses; the single three-hour period format has been found most appropriate for certain evening and weekend classes. The university attempts to maintain accurate information about changing student needs and to adjust its class schedule accordingly. Current Class Schedules (<http://academicscheduling.csusb.edu>) are available approximately two weeks before the beginning of Priority Registration for a term.

Late-Day and Evening Classes

Courses offered in the late afternoon and evening are in every respect the equal of courses offered earlier in the day; they have identical prerequisites and requirements and they confer equal credit. Late-day classes have proven to be of convenience to regular and part-time students, teachers, business people and others in the community. The proportion of late-day classes has been increasing and stands currently between one-third and one-half of all classes.

Class Size

A distinctive feature of the San Bernardino plan is the attempt to offer the majority of courses in a small lecture/discussion/seminar format. Currently approximately 70 percent of the courses are taught in this arrangement. This small class size increases the possibilities for discussion and for student-faculty contacts both within and outside the classroom.

To maintain the small class as the norm requires that some proportion of courses be offered in an intermediate size (enrollment of 30 to 72) or in a large-lecture format (maximum enrollment of 250).

Among lower-division general education courses, those in the basic skills area, in foreign language, in mathematics and in English are offered mostly through small classes, while those in other areas typically employ intermediate or large-lecture classes. Upper-division general education courses may be offered in the large-lecture format. Each department utilizes intermediate size classes for a small number of required or elective courses, but the majority of departmental offerings are in small classes. The typical laboratory section has a maximum enrollment of 24, sometimes less.

Faculty Office Hours

In addition to meeting with students during designated class hours, faculty members hold regularly scheduled office hours, which are posted outside their offices. A student who is unable to see a faculty member during class or the posted office hours may arrange an appointment by contacting the appropriate department office.

Course Credits and Study Expectations

Most courses at California State University, San Bernardino carry three semester units of credit; some carry six units; some two units; and a few variable credit. Course credits are indicated in the course descriptions in this catalog. Since each unit of credit presumes one hour of class time and two hours of preparation, a typical three-unit course would require a minimum of 9 hours per week of the student's time.

Credit Hour

On July 1, 2020, the United States Department of Education changed its definition of the student credit hour. Fundamentally, the change shifted responsibility for credit hour compliance to the accreditation agency and/or to the state.

As such, the CSU's accreditor, the WASC Senior College and University Commission (WSCUC), has published its own updated definition of student credit hour and related accreditation processes. The new regulations no longer require an accrediting agency to review an institution's credit hour policy and procedures. It does require the WSCUC to review the institution's definition of credit hour and an institutions' processes and policies for ensuring the credit hour policy is followed.

The CSU credit hour definition is consistent with federal law (600.2 and 600.4 revised July 1, 2020) and the requirements of the WSCUC. The CSU defines a credit hour as an amount of work represented in stated learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement. Such evidence is an institutionally established equivalency that:

1. Approximates not less than:
 - a. One hour of direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately 15 weeks for one semester or equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or
 - b. At least an equivalent amount of work as required in paragraph 1.a. of this definition for other academic activities as established by the institution including laboratory work, internships, practica, studio work and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours; and
2. Permits an institution, in determining the amount of work associated with a credit hour, to take into account a variety of delivery methods, measurements of student work, academic calendars, disciplines and degree levels. Institutions have the flexibility to award a greater number of credits for courses that require more student work.

As in the past, a credit hour is assumed to be a 50-minute (not 60-minute) period. In some courses, such as those offered online, in which "seat time" does not apply, a credit hour may be measured by an equivalent amount of work, as demonstrated by student achievement.

For purposes of accreditation, all CSU campuses are required to develop, communicate and implement procedures for regular, periodic review of this credit hour policy to ensure that credit hour assignments are accurate, reliable and consistently applied. WSCUC published new draft guidelines that took effect in June 2021. Campuses are responsible for publishing a clearly stated practice or process that ensures they are in compliance with the student credit hour definition.

University Honors Program

The University Honors Program stands for an education that will give each student the opportunity to explore ideas and principles underlying the major areas of modern knowledge, the understanding that learning is a continuous lifetime process, and the courage and enthusiasm to participate in the creation of a better world. This program offers integrated courses and other enrichment opportunities for highly-motivated students who seek an intellectual challenge. Most honors courses fulfill the general education requirements which all students at the university must meet.

Students who have shown scholastic ability, intellectual promise, and creativity are encouraged to apply for the program. Further information about the Honors Program can be obtained in Coyote Village 135, (909) 537-7472, or by visiting the University Honors Program website (<https://www.csusb.edu/honors-program/>).

Facilities Planning & Management

California State University, San Bernardino blends modern facilities with wide expanses of well-maintained landscapes, and panoramic views. The 430-acre campus features more than 33 fully accessible and air-conditioned buildings. In addition to classrooms and laboratories for course work in the arts, letters, sciences, and social sciences, the university has a number of rather distinctive facilities, such as simulation laboratories, a modern instructional television studio lab, an electronic music studio, glass blowing facilities, a Geographic Information Systems (GIS) Lab, Crime Analysis Lab, Anthropology Museum, Infant/toddler Teaching Lab, the Arrowhead Lab for Security Analysis, Literacy Center, Math and Science Teaching Methods Labs, and state-of-the-art self-instructional computer laboratories located in each of the major instructional buildings.

In 2017, the Board of Trustees approved the University's Master Plan for the future of campus. The Master Plan addresses the current utilization of academic and service departments, future expansion of facilities to accommodate enrollment growth; parking and circulation; student housing; student life functions; landscape; playfields and athletics; safety, lighting and security; and strategies to create a more sustainable campus. The Center for Global Innovation which opened in 2019 was the first building to be completed under the new Master Plan and is home to the College of Extended and Global Education, and international and study abroad programs on campus. For more information please visit the Master Plan Webpage (<https://www.csusb.edu/master-plan/>).

University Library

Library website (<http://www.lib.csusb.edu/>)

The John M. Pfau Library provides essential support for the university's curriculum and strives to motivate and empower people to be life-long learners. The dedicated staff, most of which works behind the scene, acquires excellent resources, develops intellectual access to them, and provides research assistance at the point of need.

The collections include a wealth of materials in a variety of formats. While they are specially built and maintained to support the curriculum, they are not restricted to it. The Special Collections Department collects and preserves artifacts, photographs, and memorabilia on the local and regional history of this area along with the history of the university. The library is also a depository library for both Federal and State of California government documents.

Numerous database subscriptions provide a wealth of digital resources and extend the reach of scholars far beyond our walls. The efficient Interlibrary Loan service provides the means to obtain nearly any book or article not owned by the library.

Benefit from the special expertise of librarians in person at the Reference Desk, on the phone, or online via the web site. Faculty may schedule librarian-taught research instruction sessions for their classes. Individuals may make appointments with a librarian for more in-depth assistance.

There is much more to know about how the library works to enhance the university experience than will comfortably fit in this brief description. Students are invited to come on by and (pun intended!) check us out.

Academic Technologies & Innovation

(909) 537-7439 ATI website (<https://www.csusb.edu/academic-technology-innovation/>)

The Department of Academic Technologies & Innovation (ATI) focuses on fostering and supporting faculty's use of academic technologies for teaching and learning, including faculty-led innovation, student engagement technologies, and growth in hybrid and online learning courses. The ATI Department works closely with the Division of Academic Affairs, the Teaching Resource Center (TRC), and the College Deans and Department Chairs to identify and set priorities and standards in academic technology initiatives. The ATI Department consists of instructional designers, instructional technologists, and accessibility specialists who support online instruction and classroom technologies including smart classrooms. The department also works with the Academic Technologies and Distributed Learning subcommittee of the Faculty Senate to identify and develop academic technology innovations and initiatives.

The ATI office provides coordination and oversight of a multitude of online learning activities offered through CSUSB, including state-supported degree programs as well as technology-based extension courses and activities. ATI provides anytime, anywhere access for students who would otherwise be unable to attain a CSUSB degree.

The concept of distributed learning connotes a system through which CSUSB can more fully "distribute" its academic resources to its diverse and broad-based constituents, locally, nationally, and internationally. CSUSB offers several degree programs either fully or partially online (hybrid) or via videoconference, including programs in education, liberal studies, communications, nursing, business, public administration, and criminal justice.

Distributed learning techniques engage students actively (or interactively), and focus on helping students achieve class objectives via a number of state-of-the-art technologies, including online, blended (hybrid), and video/Web conferences. In addition, courses taught off-campus at remote sites are coordinated by the Academic Technologies and Innovation office.

Assistive Technology and Accessibility Center (ATAC)

ATI's Assistive Technology and Accessibility Center (ATAC) provides both software and hardware technology solutions to students, faculty, and staff at the CSUSB and Palm Desert campuses. Assistive technology helps individuals with disabilities receive equal access to information and resources.

Classroom Support

Media equipment is fast becoming the backbone of the instructional environment and ATI's Classroom Support team provides access to a wide variety of instructional technologies in our classrooms and learning spaces. Whether the equipment is already installed in one of our Smart Classrooms or media equipment is delivered to your classroom, our staff will ensure that you have what you need. Equipment for special campus events, meetings, or conferences is also available.

Keeping equipment in good operational order requires a thorough preventative maintenance program as well as access to knowledgeable technical staff. Our classroom and instructional support staff are available to provide consultation to faculty and staff in the proper operation of classroom technologies. Installation of special software for use in Smart Classrooms is also available upon request.

Online Courses

Online and hybrid courses offered throughout CSUSB's colleges are identified as such in the official CSUSB Course Schedule. Online courses are taught completely on the Internet and are not assigned classroom space. Hybrid courses are assigned classroom space and meeting times, which range from once per semester to weekly, accompanied by significant online materials and activities. Students taking online courses should consult the Academic Technologies & Innovation website (linked at the top of this page) for minimum hardware and software requirements for taking any courses on the Internet.

For more information on support and professional development for faculty, contact ATI at (909) 537-7439.

National Student Exchange Program

Office of Student Engagement, SU-203

(909) 537-5234

CSUSB National Student Exchange (<https://www.csusb.edu/student-engagement/national-student-exchange/>)

National Student Exchange (NSE) offers study opportunities at over 200 diverse university settings across the US, Puerto Rico, Canada, Guam and the US Virgin Islands and provides access to a wide array of courses and programs. NSE offers options for students who may not yet be ready for an international program, but are seeking new academic, cultural and personal experiences to enhance their undergraduate education. NSE options include exchange among university honors and residential life programs, as well as access to internships, research options, and service learning opportunities of member campuses. NSE features a tuition reciprocity system that allows students to attend their host institution by paying either the in-state tuition/fees of their host institution or the normal tuition/fees here at Cal State San Bernardino. NSE students can exchange for a single term or a full academic year. Course work completed while on exchange at the host campus is brought back to the home institution and credited to the student's degree program.

Apply for exchange through the CSUSB-NSE office. The process includes a non-refutable application fee and current transcript.

CSUSB determines the manner in which the host campus courses are distributed and grades are recorded. Students should consult with an academic advisor regarding course selection prior to going on exchange and preferably during the time they are exploring possible host campuses. During the application process, students will need to meet with a Transfer and Graduation Counselor in the Office of the Registrar to ensure that classes taken on exchange will transfer back to CSUSB.

Below is a brief description of all officially approved CSUSB centers and institutes with contact information and website links.

Approved Centers

Aging, Center on

The Center on Aging at CSUSB is a university-wide interdisciplinary unit sponsored by the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences. It was created in order to unite people and resources at CSUSB to better respond to the needs of a rapidly aging population in the Inland Empire.

The goals of the Center on Aging are: (1) build strategic and lasting relationships between CSUSB, community-based organizations, and local governments in order to increase the quality of life for local older adults; (2) educate and train future professionals on the best practices for serving an aging population; and (3) conduct and disseminate world-class gerontology research.
